Solar maintenance, repairs & monitoring

Like cars, solar energy systems need to be well maintained and taken care of to work efficiently and operate safely.

Regularly conducting a solar system 'health check' for weather damage, issues and faults allows you to maximise your electricity savings and prevent issues that can void equipment warranties. Solar PV systems also need to stay clean to produce as much power as possible. In fact, dirty solar panels can produce up to 25% less power.

At Connect Solar, we provide trusted maintenance and repair services for any solar system, not just those we've installed. We work with most brands, can repair and service systems both in and out of warranty, and we also swiftly repair solar batteries and inverters.

We also provide an opt-in lifetime remote monitoring service for optimal solar panel system performance, if desired.

Rooftop solar PV panels now account for more than 11% of Australia's electricity supply and are helping families and businesses slash their energy bills.
